Biographical Sketch

Warren (née Armstrong) Jabali was born in Kansas City, Kansas, on August 29, 1946 to Warren G. and Veola Bullock Armstrong. Jabali attended Central High School in Kansas City, Missouri, where he played basketball and was recognized as a high school All American. After high school, Jabli went to Wichita State University where he was three-time All-Missouri Valley Conference selection. Following his graduation, he entered the American Basketball Association, playing for the Oakland Oaks, Indiana Pacers, the Floridians, the Denver Rockets, and the San Diego Conquistadors.

When his professional basketball career ended, Jabli became a physical education teacher in Dade County, Florida, serving the school system there for over thirty years. He also served as Commissioner of the Miami Midnight Basketball League Program, a program designed to not only re-direct the energies of inner-city youth but also help them identify and achieve their goals. Jabali died July 13, 2012.
