Historical Sketch

The oral history project was a grant-funded collaboration between the Black Archives of Mid-America and the Kansas City Public Library. The Kansas City Public Library served primarily in a consulting role, providing training to prospective interviewers. The Black Archives directed most other aspects of the project, including identifying interviewees, performing the interviews, and creating summaries of the interviews. Interviews were conducted by Horace M. Peterson III, Ella Pruitt, Edward Scott, Milton Smith, and Ophelia Webber. Rose Bell served as the library's consultant on the project and conducted one of the interviews.

Scope and Content Note

The Black Archives of Mid-America / Kansas City Public Library Oral History Collection originally consisted of 97 audio cassette tapes containing interviews with 59 individuals conducted between mid-1975 and late 1976. A number of cassette tapes are currently missing. This collection consists of 92 cassette tapes, 77 CDs, and 82 WAV files.

The Black Archives of Mid-America houses an original set of the cassette tapes, CD copies, interview summaries created by the project team, copies of the use agreements, and a growing collection of detailed summaries of the interviews. Audio does not exist for Interview #31, Gerald Hall, and Interview #56, Luther White. Original audio for Interview #34, Thelma L. Hollowell, is found on Interview #1, Ahmad Ala-adeen, Side B of Tape 2. Brief summaries, prepared by the project team, are available for all interviews with the exception of Interview #45, James McKinley Neal.

Original project contracts, correspondence, use agreements, and related documents are available for viewing in the Missouri Valley Room at the Kansas City Public Library as part of SC52, Black Archives of Mid-America / Kansas City Public Library Oral History Collection.

Interviews are listed numerically by interview number and include the name of the interviewee, the number of items and audio formats available for the interview, the name of the interviewer, the date of the interview, the total length of the interview, and the subject assigned by the project team.
